Something of the Big Irrigation Schemes in Millard County.

RICHES IN ALFALFA SEED.

Canal and Reservoir Enterprises Making Profitable Fields Out of Desert Lands.

A representative of this paper had a very interesting talk last evening with Hon. T. C. Callister, a member of the lower house of the Legislature, from Millard county. Mr. Callister says the people of his county have had an unprecedented prosperous season. Agriculture and stock raising comprise the principal occupations, and they have been decidedly profitable. As an illustration of what result has been, Mr. Callister refers to his own experience. Personally he has handled more than $1000 in money in buying and selling alfalfa. On his ranch he raised 100 tons of alfalfa from 25 acres of land. The raising of this product has become quite a profitable business in that section of country. This is particularly true about the settlers of the land formerly owned by the Salt Lake Agricultural and Cattle Company. The land irrigated by this canal is practically new, having been filled only for a few years. But the alfalfa crop is so good, yielding 100 tons of alfalfa from 25 acres, that it has become a good crop of hay. Mr. Callister says that he has never seen alfalfa so good as that raised in Millard county. The people of Millard county and the south are looking with considerable interest upon the huge irrigation enterprise which is being carried out as it is commonly believed it will. It will reclaim 25,000 acres of land, and the project is estimated to cost $1,000,000. That the promoters of it are successful is a fact that they have deposited $100,000 with the Salt Lake bank, and they are now at work on the first of May next. In the event that they fail to do so this sum will be forfeited to the state.
